DOES IT WORK?

The most important question that a health supplement can answer is, "Does it work?"

Nature's Sunshine scientists begin by seeking to understand specific functions of the body. With this understanding, they then begin to investigate ingredients known to affect these functions. After identifying potential ingredients, they study various blends of these ingredients to determine which combinations and ratios have the greatest impact.

Our CardioXLDL was developed using this exact method. Nature's Sunshine scientists sought to understand what happens within the cardiovascular system and they began to focus on the activity of cholesterol and cholesterol oxidation. They then developed a unique formulation featuring the extract of bergamot orange and a blend of other antioxidant phytonutrients and performed a study to assess the product's efficacy. (Does it Work?). The result? A top-selling, and patent-pending product that targets cardiovascular health and modulates the oxidation of LDL cholesterol.

The last few months have been to inform you about 45 years of Nature's Sunshine and their quality products. How are your supplements working and what testing do those products undergo? In randomly calling other supplement companies it was interesting that some had no quality control??

Learn about CardioXLDL and more at an IN.FORM class. Contact me to be part of the IN.FORM program or to be an IN.FORM Health Coach (IN.FORM certification available online)

Summer Skin Protection

Q. I've been spending lots of time outdoors with my two children. I'm concerned about sunburn, bug bites and other skin irritations that might ruin our summer fun. Any advice to share?

A. While enjoying outdoor activities this summer it's important to protect our skin and know how to treat common skin irritations.

Sun safety

- Dress in cool, comfortable clothing that covers the body, including hats.
- Limit sun exposure between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.
- Wear sunglasses with at least 99% UV protection.
- Use sunscreen and SPF lip balm.

Buzz off—Insect repellents can help prevent insect bites, but not from stinging insects. Use repellents with 10% to 30% DEET on anyone older than two months. You can also use repellents with picaridin.

Don't get ticked!—Dress your kids in long-sleeved shirts and tuck their pants into socks. Check for ticks nightly. Remove a tick by lightly gripping it with tweezers near its head, close to the skin. Pull it off without crushing it. Clean the area and apply an antiseptic.

For bee stings, push out the stinger using a blunt-edged object such as a credit card. Clean the wound with soap and water, then apply a cool compress.

Poison Ivy—Wash exposed areas with soap and water within five to 10 minutes of contact to prevent a breakout. Apply calamine lotion to ease itching. If the rash starts oozing or the skin is swelling, seek medical help.
