BENEFITS OF SLEEP

Improve concentration, sharpen planning, and memory
Burn fat and be fit!

"Lower risk of Type II Diabetes, Depression, Anxiety, Alzheimer's, Osteoporosis, and Cancer." Brown University 9/2014

INSOMNIA

A National Health Interview Survey reported 1.6 million adults already use CAM to treat insomnia

The NIH reports 60 million adults in the U.S. struggle with insomnia
The prevalence of insomnia among adults ranges from 10-30%, and increases with age and female gender (40% females, 30% men)

SLEEP DEPRIVATION

About 1/2 of all people over 65 have frequent sleeping problems, such as insomnia, and deep sleep stages

Experts say that if you feel drowsy during the day, even during boring activities, you haven't had enough sleep

If you routinely fall asleep within 5 minutes of lying down, you probably have severe sleep deprivation

SLEEP IS NECESSARY FOR HEALTH

Sleep deprivation affects the immune system in detrimental ways

Sleep is necessary for our nervous systems to work properly

COMMON FACTORS THAT TRIGGER INSOMNIA

Dependence on substances such as alcohol, caffeine, nicotine, and other drugs

Long-term use of stimulant or sedating medications

Sleep disorders such as restless leg syndrome, GERD, and obstructive sleep apnea

Stress associated with family, occupation, or health challenges

HERBAL CHOICES

Herbal sleep aids have been in use around the globe for centuries

Encouraging Men's Health/PCP

ENCOURAGE THE MEN IN YOUR LIFE TO STAY HEALTHY

June is Men's Health Month. How can you help the men in your life stay healthy? Encourage them to build a relationship with a primary care provider (PCP) who can guide their health care and provide preventive health care to keep them healthy.

As a health care "quarterback," the PCP calls the plays and provides access to other health care services as needed.

Being familiar with a man's health history helps a PCP effectively handle most medical needs. This includes any short-term health issues, as well as chronic conditions, preventive care and screenings.

Do men need an annual exam?

Men should have an annual physical exam where a primary care provider checks weight, blood pressure, blood glucose levels and immunization status. Based on age and health history, certain cancer screenings may also be recommended such as prostate, colorectal, lung and skin cancer screenings.

Starting at age 20, men should be screened if they are at increased risk for heart disease. Starting at 35, all men need regular cholesterol testing. Men at average risk should be screened for Type 2 diabetes every three years, starting at age 45.

Regular preventive screenings help discover diseases at an early stage — even before symptoms appear — so they can be treated most successfully.

It's no surprise that healthier men live happier, longer lives. Growing evidence suggests that men (and their female counterparts) who maintain a strong, ongoing relationship with a primary care provider report greater satisfaction with their medical care and also enjoy better overall health.

SPENCER'S NEW ADVENTURE

With Spencer being blind he has always been in an enclosed area, however, since the other horses are gone the plan was to try letting him roam with Smokey. Well, it was a beautiful Monday morning and after feeding the horses their grain, Smokey walked outside and as I took Spencer's lead rope I told him this is the day for you to try it...roaming with Smokey. After leading him to his pile of hay, I stepped aside to watch. He was not sure of his surroundings and wandered on top of the manure pile...and there went Smokey to get him, to lead him back to the hay!! In checking on the horses several times that day, Spencer was unsure of himself, however, by night time, the situation had improved. With the cold night temperatures that week, he would spend the night in his stall. Then the warmer weather came so this was the time for staying out at night..and Spencer is doing fine..absolutely incredible. He is able to sniff his way to the water tank and off the concrete to the ground to roll.

We are still in need of volunteers any day and any time of the day so check your schedule and contact us.
